EARLY STAGE GAMES

Encouraging both inductive and deductive reasoning, these cognitive games are designed to provoke thought, and promote social interaction for those suffering from mild to moderate dementia.

MIDDLE STAGE GAMES

Focusing on cognitive object play, these games promote physical activity, social interaction, and feelings of accomplishment. They're also ideal for intergenerational play during family visits.

LATE STAGE GAMES

Drawing people in with engaging videos and soothing music, the slightest movement brings out bursts of color, sending objects fluttering, and engaging the normally distant in a multisensory experience.

Lucynt calls out the number, and with the touch of a hand the selection is highlighted.

One person can play as many cards as they choose, or multiple players can join in at any time.

Up to six people can play at one table and after Lucynt displays the winner, a new game begins.
